The NGO organized a seminar to discuss a range of human rights issues, including the concept of democracy and discrimination against women in the labor sector. The seminar involved local authorities and traditional leaders, as well as local associations and economic actors. Following the seminar, a series of theatrical pieces were performed for 16 local communities carried out by the Grupo de Teatro e Danca Tradicional. At the end of each performance, the entire community was invited to discuss and debate human rights issues. There was strong community participation and the NGO itself expressed a general satisfaction with its accomplishment.

17. B- A training seminar was also funded by DHRF FY02 and organized by AMODESE, a local NGO, for 32 community judges in the province of Tete in January 2003. The Seminar lasted five days and focused on the following topic: Management, Resolution and Mediations of Community Conflicts. Speakers analyzed different aspects of conflicts emphasizing in particular how to prevent, manage and resolve them. The purpose was to improve the judges' capabilities to negotiate and mediate disputes by promoting a process of peaceful resolution. The last day's discussion also covered the law that regulates the local tribunals and its effective application. At the end of the seminar many of the community judges stated that the information they received was very useful and will help them in the process of hearing, analyzing and judging different community cases.
